Foreword

Maidstone Grammar School has a long and proud history, with close links to the Maidstone Borough since it came into being in 1549. We have researched various sources and accounts to attempt to give a visually appealing and informative snapshot of the school's history.

The resulting findings have been put together by the small group of committed students named below, during the Extended Learning Week 24-28 June 2013. We have tried wherever possible to verify the enclosed information however, we apologise if there are any inaccuracies, and would very much appreciate being told so that this record of MGS can be updated. We see this as an ongoing project and hope that people will come forward with more pictures, tales, information, names etc which can be incorporated to help weave together the school's rich history.

Introduction

Maidstone Grammar School officially dates back to 1549 when Maidstone was granted its first Charter. It has had an unbroken existence, apart from a brief interruption 1554-8 due to Maidstone's connection with Sir Thomas Whyatt's Rebellion against Queen Mary and her attempt to re-introduce Catholicism.

However, the school can be linked back to a Grey Friar's Order School since 1348, housed at the top of Gabriels Hill which then moved in the 1390's to the All Saints College attached to the Church. In the early 15th Century the school moved to the newly built Corpus Christi Hall at the bottom of Earl Street, part of which still exists today.

In 1871 the school moved to a site on the Tonbridge Road, before finally ending up at its current location in 1930 in Barton Road.

History of MGS

What is in a name? The title 'Grammar School' comes from the aim of teaching grammar (Latin), the language of the Middle Ages.

Timeline

Date	Event
1348	School recorded in the Old Grey Friars Building at the top of Gabriels Hill
About 1395	The school moved to the College of All Saints
1422	The Guild or Fraternity of Corpus Christi was founded and the school moved to the Hall
1547	The government of Edward VI began dissolving the Colleges (All Saints) and Guilds (Corpus Christi) of the country as the Protestant Reformation developed
1549	The Corpus Christi Hall, now belonging to the Crown was sold to the town of Maidstone for £200 to found a Grammar School
1554-58	Maidstone's sympathy with the rebellion of Sir Thomas Wyatt of Allington Castle caused the cancellation of Maidstone's recent Charter and therefore the school was temporarily closed down
1559	The Catholic Queen Mary died in 1558 to be succeeded by her half sister Elizabeth and England became Protestant again. The second Charter was granted to the town and the school resumed its existence, unbroken to the present day
June 1648	A major battle was fought just a few hundred yards away from the Corpus Christi Hall along Week Street and Gabriel Hill. Over 400 men were killed as Lord Fairfax recaptured the town for the Parliamentarians during the second phase of the English Civil War
1691	The infamous Headmaster John Law MA killed a local man in an Ale House; he was found guilty of manslaughter and was sentenced to excommunication and later to be mutilated, but he escaped and disappeared!
1818	The newly constituted Charity Commissioners carried out a full enquiry into the condition of the school. There were only 10 day boys and 15 borders
1869	Endowed Schools Act – a formal entrance test and the curriculum was widened to include at least one Modern Language and Natural Science
1871	The school moved from Corpus Christi Hall to a new sight on the Tonbridge Road
1884	Old Maidstonian Society was formed

History of MGS

1885	The Maidstonian Magazines started
1886	Maidstone Girls Grammar School was founded, our sister foundation sharing the same Governing Body
1895	The school started its association with the recently formed Kent County Council
1899	The House System started with 3 houses: School, East Borough and West Borough dependent on where the students lived
1899	The first Physics Laboratory was established
1905	The first Woodwork Shop was established
1906	The Cadet Corps was inaugurated
1908	Cadet Corps became the Officer Training Corps
1908	The words to the School Song (6 verses of it, we currently sing verse 1 and 5!) were written by the then Headmaster Reverend A C Duffield and set to music by the music master Dr Henniker
1913	The first layman Headmaster, Mr Walter Cross, was appointed
1913	The Junior School came into existence, moving to Brunswick House in 1922
1914	The number of boys had increased from 97 to 139
1922	Annual Shakespeare Drama Productions started
1924	Rugger replaced Soccer in the Easter Term
1930	Moved to Barton Road (the drainpipes with 1929 cast were ordered too early!); Lord Cornwallis formerly opened the present building in July 1930
1936	Increasing University successes secured MGS's admission to the Headmaster's Conference of Public Schools
1938-39	The Air Raid Shelter; zigzag passages which went under the Court and school field. There was room for over 300 so that lessons could continue underground
13 Sept 1940	Bombs fell around the school
1945	School fees were abolished, though only one quarter were fee paying by the end
1949	Field Marshall Montgomery was Guest of Honour at our Speech Day
1949	A Chronicle Play 'One Day We Shall Remember' was written by a History Teacher (Mr G B Phillips), who gave 46 years of service to the school, to commemorate the 400 th Anniversary
1950	The Science Labs (current rooms 20-21 plus 30-31 and Physics Prep Room) were built onto the far cloisters into the quadrangle
1953	A School Inspection (first one since 1934), states 610 boys on roll 'there is an excellent spirit amongst the boys and a real pride in the community to which they belong the Headmaster and the Staff can be proud of their success in the creation of a civilised and virile community'
1956	The Headmaster, Mr W A Claydon, was awarded a CBE in the New Years Honours List
1960	The South Block (current library, small Hall, room 42-49, English Office, Rm 60) was opened
1965	Over 800 students now at the school
1973	The Thameside Scheme was introduced, so students now came at 13 rather than 11
1980	The Maidstonian was published annually rather than twice a year
1981	New building (Rooms 50-59, the Technology Block) was built and opened by Sir Rhodes Boyson PC
1981	An extra floor was added above the Gym (Upper Staff Room and Lab 32)
1990	The school was used as a film set for the popular TV series set in the 1950s 'The Darling Buds of May' starring David Jason and Catherine Zeta Jones. The old canteen was used for the Electrical Warehouse and the Lower Staff Room as the Tax office

History of MGS

1990s	The school was used to film 2 episodes of Art Attack using the school field and pavilion
1993	The school returned to taking Year 7s increasing the school roll eventually from 800 to over 1200
1993	The disused Fives Courts (Fives is a game like squash but played with a glove on the hand instead of a racquet) were converted into three classrooms (Rooms 90-92)
1993	Mobile huts were placed at the back of the Headmaster's garden to cope with the growing numbers of students (Rooms 86-89?)
2000	James Burke opened the new reception
2005	A new Canteen and Maths/History/Art Block was built
2007	House System was re-introduced: 6 houses: Challenger (Purple), Churchill (Yellow), Endeavour (Red), Hurricane (Green), Invincible (Blue), Spitfire (White).
2010	The Applied Learning Centre was built
2011	The Sixth Form and Food Technology was built

Section 1: The Different School Sites

A. Corpus Christi Hall 1549-1871

How and when was it founded as a Grammar school?

In 1422 the Guild or Fraternity of Corpus Christi was founded in Maidstone. At this time it had the use of a chantry in the north chancel of All Saints' Church, and consisted of 2 wardens, 4 chaplains and a number of churchmen, gentry and townsmen. The four main characteristics of this building were that of the hall, refectory, chapel and cloisters. In 1547 the Government of Edward VI continued Henry VIII's Reformation and began the dissolution of the Colleges and Guilds of the country. Corpus Christi Guild was suppressed and its property was handed over to the Crown. In 1549 on behalf of the young King Edward VI, Protector Somerset sold the building to the town of Maidstone for £200 to house a Grammar School. The town's sympathy with the 1554 Protestant Rebellion of Sir Thomas Whyatt of Allington Castle caused the forfeiture of Maidstone's recently granted charter, and with it the right to run a school, causing a temporary closure. The Catholic Queen Mary was succeeded by her half-sister, Elizabeth in 1558 and England became Protestant again. She granted Maidstone's Second Charter and the school resumed its existence, unbroken to the present day.

The Corpus Christi Hall: What is it like?

At this present moment in time, only the refectory remains of the Corpus Christi Hall, which once thrived in the days when the school was present here; it is a Grade 2 listed building, and currently houses the offices of the Avis Rent-a-Cars! The interior of the Corpus Christi Hall maintains some of its great character, consisting of two crown posts with chamfered tie beams, a passage with 5 stone arches, and traces of a wooden partition that originally divided the hall into two.

Corpus Christi Hall today

The school hours taken from the 1650 Orders:

The school hours were longer than the present ones! Initially they were fragmented into am and pm. In the morning the school hours were from 7am until 11am, and 1pm to 5pm (except Thursdays and

History of MGS

Saturdays, which were 1 – 3pm). Also on Sunday students were expected to attend a Church Service at All Saints.

Other extracts from the 1650 set of orders:

4. That dureinge the howers of schoolinge the Master shall continue in the Schoole teachinge and apposeing his schollers in Grammer, Humanity, Poetery, Rhetoricke and in such kind of learneinge and authors both in Latine and Greeke tongues as are usually taught in free schooles. ...

14. That noe Scholler bee admitted into the Schoole untill hee can perfectlie read in any common English Booke and in some measure write.

15. That noe Scholler bee admitted into the Schoole who for his evill demeanour hath been expelled from any other Schoole, if hee remaine incorrigible. ...

17. That if any Scholler shalbee debauch or lewd of behaviour or through obstinacy incorrigible and will not amend or shall assault, strike or threaten, or boldly or impudently affront the Master or Usher, or shalbee a common fighter or quarreller, hee shalbee forthwith expelled from the Schoole and not received againe without the allowance of a Courte of Burghmote.

18. That every Scholler beinge the Child of a freeman of this Towne shall pay to the Common Box of the Schoole at his admission sixpence, and every other Scholloer twelve pence, to bee employed for the buyinge and maintayneinge of common Bookes needfull in the Schoole, as an English Bible in folio, Dictionaries and the like. ...

20. That the Master shall have his house and wages dureinge his life (if hee shall soe longe continue Schoolmaster of the said Schoole) not being convicted of some notable crime, as to bee a gamester, a haunter of alehouses, inns or taverns, prophane in language or life, unsound in religion, excessive or immodest in haire or habite, negligent in the duties of his place, or that will not conforme to the good and wholesome Orders and constitucions hereby made...

Though it must be stated that this set of rules was drawn up in 1650 at the beginning of the Puritan Commonwealth.

In 1818 a Chantry Commissioner's report stated there were 10 day boys and 15 borders.

- ❖ The Headmaster has full power over the school houses.
- ❖ The Headmaster's usher must follow the rules as well.
- ❖ Every early June the Ministers may inspect the school if they wish, and they can do it without warning.

Why did they move from this school in 1871?

In the mid 19th century the search for a new site started. The first reason according to Streatfeild's History (1915) was that an increasing number of boys were joining the school, because at this time, there was a growing demand for education. The school currently had about 46 day students and 8 borders. Another reason was the old site was seen as a place of commercial value being close to the river, and surrounded by factories, therefore the land could be sold at a reasonable price and another plot of more suitable land be purchased. Revenue of £3,500 was raised for the move. The plot on the Tonbridge Road was more away from the hustle and bustle of the busy area in which Corpus Christi was situated. Mr Elton's Report of 1869 appears to contradict Streatfeild's view by stating students number were decreasing and stresses concerns about the location as sailors and bargemen as well as other 'undesirables' regularly walked through the playground. Extracts from Mr Elton's School Report 1866-69 reads like an early Ofsted Report!

... The schoolhouse is large enough for the present number of boys, which is decreasing. The site is very bad, the house being near the river and surrounded by factories. The playground abuts on the public quay, frequented by sailors and bargemen. ... It is said that the disadvantages of the situation deter many parents from sending boys to the school. Subscriptions have already been received for building a new schoolhouse, and as the old site will be very valuable for commercial purposes, it is thought that a sufficient fund can be raised. The mayor and corporation are anxious to promote in every way the interests of the school, which is not well supported by the inhabitants in general, though the fees for instruction are small.

I examined several of the classes in their school work. The two or three elder boys construed Cicero, Virgil, and Greek Testament fairly, but the remainder of the highest class did not do so well. I may add that the pronunciation of Latin and Greek was remarkably bad throughout the school. The junior boys did not succeed very well in their classical examination, although there were some whose grammatical knowledge was good. In the upper class the Latin prose was defective. The boys are not practised in Latin verse composition, which may account for their defective pronunciation. In modern subjects the work was more satisfactory. The upper class answered a hard set of questions in arithmetic very well. In history and geography the younger boys especially passed a good examination, and showed an unusual interest in the subjects. The elder boys did not show a sufficiently accurate knowledge of English history.

... The inhabitants of Maidstone are not likely to support a purely classical school, but if the course of instruction were somewhat changed, this grammar school would have a good chance of prosperity. ... The school has suffered very much from the loss of its intended endowment as well as from its unfavourable situation; it is at present in an unsatisfactory condition, but might be made into a good town school.

In 1866 there were 46 day scholars between 10-16 years old and 8 borders, all in the Headmaster's house.

The Staff and Pupils 1866

B. Tonbridge Road 1871 - 1930

This period coincided with great changes in education. It was the early days of central government involvement initially encouraging, and then enforcing through legislation, a wider curriculum with more emphasis on science, technology and physical training. Both the School Governors and the Kent Education Committee were anxious to acquire larger buildings and bigger playing fields, and then Alderman George Foster Clark made a gift of land in Barton Road in 1924, so plans for a move to our 5th site were put in place.

Maidstone Grammar School and the Combined Cadet Force

The CCF has been a part of MGS's history for over 100 years. It was first officially introduced under the name of 'The Cadet Corps' on 25th January 1906. There were initially sixty names on the roll and the War Office lent the Corps twelve service rifles and forty-five carbines. Since then the name has changed many a time until 1948 when it became known as the Combined Cadet Force or 'CCF' for short.

Why Did MGS Move From Tonbridge Road to Barton Road?

MGS moved from its home of 60 years at Tonbridge Road to a new home at the top of Barton Road. When the new Headmaster Mr A J Woolgar started in 1925 he knew that a grander space was needed, to cope with the growing number of pupils, particularly the need for more playing fields.

The School Song

While at the Tonbridge Site the Old Maidstonians Society, the Maidstonian Magazine and the School Song all came into being. The words of the latter (6 verses of it, we currently sing verse 1 and 5!) were written by the then Headmaster Reverend A C Duffield and set to music by the music master Dr Henniker.

The song as it is today (English):	Stan3a Number.	The song as it is today (Latin)	Stan3a Number.
Let us sing together of our school, Situated in the town of Maidstone, And founded in the reign of King Edward, so many long years ago	stan3a 1	Scholam concinamus nostram Maidstonensi urbe impostam, Rege Eaduardo ante hos tam Longos annos conditam	stan3a 1

C. Barton Road 1930 to Present

Facts about the Site

The present building was built on the site generously donated by George Foster Clark- Justice of the Peace & Alderman (member of a borough or county council) of the Borough of Maidstone. He offered to donate 30 acres of his land to build the school on, however the School Governors opted to accept about half, as they were not sure they would be able to afford the upkeep. The Foster Clarks were a local family who had made their money from producing custard powder and jelly. The site was officially opened by Lord Cornwallis in July 1930.

Interesting features of the 1930 school

- Initially there were about 300 students (now over 1200).
- There was no canteen until after WW2; dinners were cooked in the 'old kitchen', now the caretakers room next to the PE Office, and the dinners were served in the Gym.
- Technology was initially in room 25.

Commemorative Plaque in the Gatehouse

History of MGS

- Until relatively recently the only entrance and exit to the school was through the archway of the Gatehouse. Many lorries and coaches got stuck! You can still see the scratches and grooves in the brickwork.
- The current car park was the main hard court play area.
- Initially the Headmaster had free use of the Headmaster's House and had a maid and gardener; Dr Argent (HM 2009-12) was the first to not live on the site so the house was converted into two upstairs apartments and downstairs offices and stores for the CCF.
- Roman connections were discovered during the building of the new site. Barton Road was part of the Roman road from Rochester, a Roman fort, to the iron mines which the Romans worked in the Weald of Kent (including Staplehurst High Street). Along this road were Roman villas, and one lies under the area between the Gatehouse and the canteen – some excavations were done in 1930 and 1950, but the archaeological site is now covered by tarmac!
- The wooden science lab (room 93) was originally the Scout Hut; the school had its own Scout troop from 1930-1970s.

How did we get the Pavilion?

The school pavilion was built thanks to donations from our Old Maidstonians Society.

Academic success

Between 1930 and 1996, the names of students which graduated to either Cambridge or Oxford University were engraved on panels in the Big Hall. From 1996 onwards, the engraved names indicated the students who attained A grades in their A levels.

Library- Past and Present

The school library used to be where room 1 currently is; with the present rooms 2a, 2b and 2c being the book store area. In 1960 the library transferred to its present location. It is known as the War Memorial library as there is a large, wooden plaque which has the names of the 70 Old Maidstonians who died in World War 2. People can pay their respects there.

Commemorative Plaque in the School Library

The Old Tuck Shop

The current School Uniform shop used to be a small sweet shop, run by the senior students and was so up until the mid 1990s.

A Planning Error

Many people may get the impression that the Grammar School has been here on Barton Road since 1929, because the drainpipes around the school all have 1929 cast on them. In actual fact, the School was not ready until 1930, and the gutters had already been ordered with 1929 on them!

Swimming Pool

The school used to have its own outdoor swimming pool, where the hard courts beyond room 93 are. There still remains a small storeroom of P.E. equipment, which was a chlorinating and pumping house for the pool. It wasn't heated and therefore was only used for a few weeks during the summer. The upkeep of the pool was quite expensive and, due to the fact that Maidstone Leisure Centre's swimming facilities were improving, the school decided to use this land for other purposes

Development of the School

Since WWII, many new buildings were built to adjust to the increase of students. In the 1950's, the science labs, which are the current rooms 20, 21, 30, 31 and the Physics Prep room, were created from the cloisters opposite the Big Hall. In 1960 the South Block (current library and small hall, music block, rooms 42-49, room 60) were built as the school now had over 800 students. In 1981, the Technology block and rooms 52-59 were constructed and opened by Sir Rhodes Boyson PC. He was a British educator, author and politician and was knighted in 1987.

In 2000, the old Maidstonian, James Burke, a British broadcaster, science historian, author and television producer, opened the new reception. In 2006, the new canteen, and the History, Maths and Art block were opened. Then in 2009, the Applied Learning Centre was built, followed by the Sixth Form and Food Technology block in 2011.

Preparing for War

As the war clouds gathered from 1938 onwards people started building air raid shelters in preparation for an attack. All public buildings had to have air raid provisions, and therefore, in late 1938 to 1939, an air raid shelter was built under the school. The shelter had zigzag passages, and could hold more than 300 people, allowing lessons to continue as normal.

The school's playing field also contained a tank trap, which was a large pit, filled with concrete blocks called dragon's teeth, which would stop the caterpillar tracks from moving. This was hidden from site by covering it with turf, strong enough for light vehicles. Also, room 7 was established as a machine gun post in case of the expected German invasion. On the 13th of September 1940, thirty-seven bombs fell in close proximity to the school but the students were all well protected in the air-raid shelter

A Great Day for MGS Students

At the end of the Second World War, school fees were abolished, meaning that you did not have to pay to embark in Maidstone Grammar School.

HMS Maidstone

HMS Maidstone was a submarine depot ship during World War II. It was built and operational by 5th May 1938. It weighed 8900 tons and had a length of 497ft, a beam of 73ft, and a speed of 17knots and could hold up to 1167 men. It was used throughout the war and travelled to Gibraltar in 1941 then in 1942 it was based at Algiers harbour. In November 1943 she was assigned to the Eastern fleet. Then she was transferred to Western Australia to operate in the Pacific, returning to Portsmouth in November 1945.

After the war in 1951 it stopped at the Spanish harbour Corunna and this was the first time that a British warship had been in Spain since the end of the Spanish Civil War. Then in 1953 it took part in the fleet review to celebrate the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. In October 1969 it was re-commissioned for 2,000 troops to be sent to Belfast where in 1971 she was used as a prison ship in operation Demetrius as a place to hold Irish internees without trial, including Gerry Adams. The ship was also famous for 3 IRA prisoners escaping and swimming over 300 yards through icy water to evade army and police. The ship was decommissioned 6 years later on the 23rd May 1978, and the ships bell was donated to the school and is rung before every Big Hall Assembly to request silence and it announces the arrival of the Headmaster.

History of MGS

A Film Set? Surely Not?

In the 1990's, the school was used for some scenes of 'The Darling Buds of May', a TV series set in the 1950's. The old canteen was used for the Electrical Warehouse and the lower staff room as the tax office. The school was also used for two episodes of Art Attack, also in the 1990's.

Section 2: MGS & War

A. The Boer War and the Combined Cadet Force (CCF)

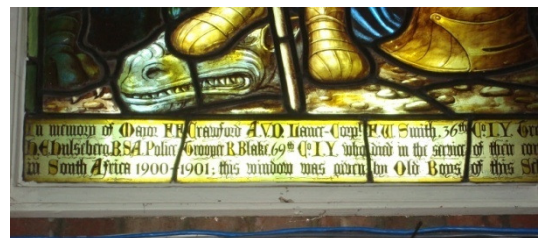

The Boer War lasted from 11th October 1899-31st May 1902, fought between the British Empire and Dutch speaking Afrikaans. 29 former students of Maidstone Grammar School died in this conflict.

The Boer War, and its initial set-backs, were a major reason for the introduction of a national Cadet Force to train the future officers of the British Army.

Maidstone Grammar School's CCF started in July 1906; experiencing their first summer camp in 1907.

Plaque in memory of the 29 students who lost their lives in the Boer War

The Boer War memorial windows in the Big Hall

There was only one commanding officer who went on that summer camp and that was Capt CG Duffield, the Headmaster of the school at the time. 33 students went to Worthing in Sussex out of 59 students that were in the CCF from the start. In 1948 the CCF divided into three different parts: Navy, Army and the RAF. However it hasn't always been known as the CCF, from 1906-1908 it was known as the Cadet Corps; then from 1908-1940 it was known as Officers Training Corps, from 1941-1948 it was called the Junior Training Corps and Air Training Corps; finally from 1948 to the present day it has been referred to as the Combined Cadet Force (CCF.)

B. World War I (Great War 1914-1918)

How did the War change education in Maidstone and in MGS?

In the Big Hall 43 names of Old Maidstonians who died during the Great War are engraved on 2 panels. Considering the school had an intake on average of about 15-20 students per year, this is the equivalent of about 3 cohorts, but remember that over $\frac{3}{4}$ m of the 5m British soldiers put into service died.

A Quote from Maidstone Grammar School 1549-1949, a Record.

'By the time of the First World War, there were about 139 students at the Tonbridge Road site. During WWI, the school, like all others, played its part and those who can remember those fateful years can remember too, the many old Maidstonians whose company to-day we should have been so happy to enjoy'.

History of MGS

To pay our respects to all the soldiers who died during the Great War, MGS regularly organise trips to take students to visit Tyne Cot Memorial, the Menin Gate and the Flanders Fields museum in Ypres.

Former MGS student 2nd Lieutenant S.A. Meyers' name is engraved into one of the memorial stones at Tyne Cot Cemetery. When the school visit MGS staff and students lay a wreath underneath his name. We also pay tribute to Old Maidstonian Sapper H.R Mount who is one of the 50,000 names on the Menin Gate Memorial in Ypres.

The following was a member of the School staff

The information has been extracted from the web-site belonging to the Commonwealth War Graves Commission and matched to details extracted from the School magazines and journals of that period

Those whose death is after the Armistice (11 November 1918) are assumed to have been wounded beforehand

Unfortunately, a member of the school staff, G. Ormrod, was killed in battle. There is a commemorative plaque in the MGS Staff Room in memory of him.

"Sic Itur Ad Astra" translates as "Thus one goes to the stars".

C. World War II (1939-1945)

Maidstone Grammar School was presiding at Barton Road when World War 2 broke out, in 1939. War had several implications for both students and staff, the most prominent being the ones described in the December 1939 wartime issue of the Maidstonian. It describes the trenches on the field and how it was disfiguring the school. While Maidstone was not suspected to be a high profile target it could come under attack and so the main points where fortified. As well as trenches, tank traps were built, where massive pits were dug and concrete spikes known as

An example of 'Dragons Teeth' tank traps dragon teeth were placed in the pits, to trap tanks. One of these was discovered when putting in the foundations, for the 1981 building work, where the current technology rooms are.

A common practise as described by an Old Maidstonian, was that in the wartime, before playing any sorts of field games, the field had to be scanned, this meant that the boys would have to line up in a row and check the field for bullet casings that cascaded down during the Battle of Britain roaring above them. With the threat of air attack, air shelters were regularly used and are still under the court and field. The entrance is along the back entrance to the school and is very overgrown and no longer accessible.

Entrance to the school's air raid shelters

With the new invention of aviation warfare, the obvious threat was from the sky.

During the course of the war, about 240 bombs were dropped on Maidstone, killing 53 people (over 60,000 civilians killed nationwide). The nearest bombs to our school fell on the 13th September 1940 where bombs struck the Foster Clark Estate, Greenside, Birch Tree Way and South Park Road.

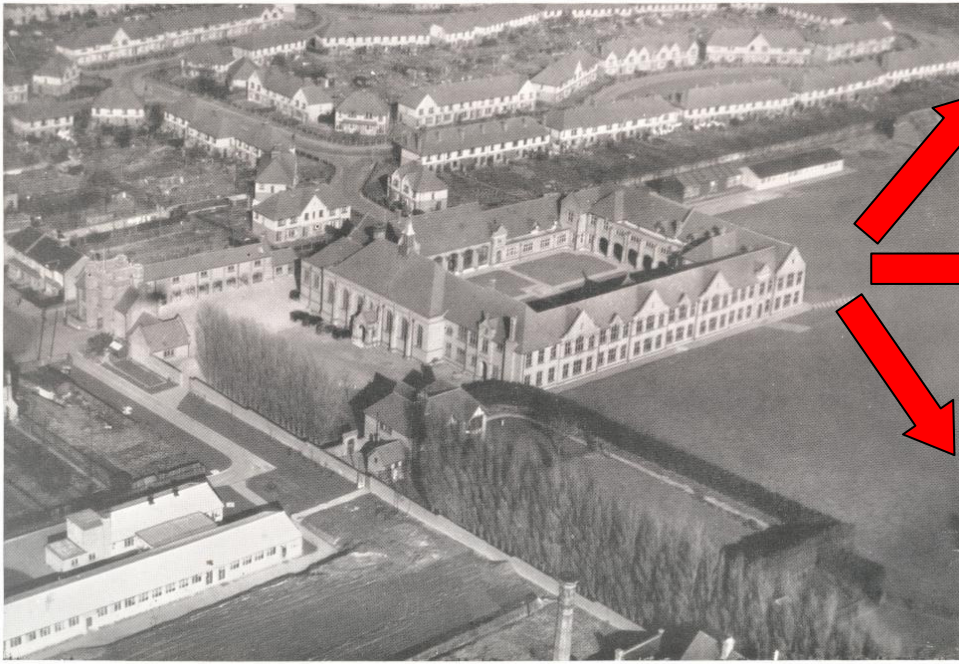

In December 1939, MGS found themselves sharing the site with the senior members of Alleyn's School, Dulwich, who moved from London for safety reasons. As well as this the war suspended the use of the classic MGS house system, as "it was found the school house had very few seniors". From then on the school was described by its students as having a "ghostly appearance". The daily visits to the air raid shelter, the trenches and tank traps in the field along with the ever obvious military presence made the school a rather dismal place to the few students that were attending at the time. As well as this a student described how the windows had to be taped over with adhesive, to stop the glass flying if the school was attacked from the air, which in turn cast a eerie glow over the classrooms.

The Home Guard training at MGS

While Maidstone was not a high priority target, there was a major fear of German invasion and the army even went as far to install a machine gun post into the room we now know as the IT room 7, as it had ample view over both sides of the field like so.

History of MGS

Room 7 was the best vantage point to set-up a machine gun post

A main achievement of MGS, was the farm and growing skills displayed to help the war time rationing effort. Rationing was introduced straight after the war was announced and Maidstone Grammar School helped 'Dig for Victory' and in 1940 managed to successfully grow a staggering 2 tonnes of potatoes, one and quarter tons of carrots and a quarter tonne of onions. One of the other events in the 2013 Extended Learning Week is to recreate allotments in the School gardens (see below).

Also in August and September during WW2 many MGS students helped bring in the grain harvest and hops on farms as far away as Marden.

Section 3: MGS & Sport

MGS Sports Team's Greatest Moments

A. Lashings World XI

In 1995 the Lashings World XI played the school's first eleven cricket team. Richie Richardson, former West Indian captain and batting legend, led the Lashings World XI and the game ended in a draw.

On the 12th June 2001 Lashings XI once again played a MGS side consisting staff and students XI. This game was particularly special because pupils were excused from lessons so they could watch the game. However, the second time around Lashings XI came out on top despite Mr Holmes and Mr Walker both getting half centuries. The Lashings side included a host of famous cricketers such as the Jimmy Adams, Junior Murray and Stewart Williams.

B. MGS First XI Football

During the 1999/2000 football season, the First XI team earned a place in the prestigious ESFA's Individual School's Trophy by winning the Kent Cup. Over 500 MGS supporters made the 5-hour coach journey to West Bromwich Albion's home ground, the Hawthorns, to watch their team play Kingsway School of Cheshire for the right to call themselves the best school team in the country. MGS dominated the majority of the game but Kingsway were kept in the game by their outstanding England U18 goalkeeper, and then they snatched victory with a late, breakaway goal.

C. MGS U15's Rugby

In the 2004/2005 rugby season, the MGS U15 rugby team represented the school at Twickenham, arguably the most prestigious rugby stadium in the world. The Daily Mail Cup consists of the best rugby schools nationwide, and it was a great achievement that MGS got through to the final of the Plate Competition which took place on the 23rd March 2005. MGS had a strong victory beating Oakham 33-7. The standout players for our team were Nick Van Mol and Joe Bedford who both scored two tries. This was a memorable occasion for the MGS players and the hundreds of spectators.

History of MGS

Current MGS sporting stars

In MGS there are currently many talented sportsmen who may become part of the schools sporting history. They seem to be on the way to becoming stars in their given field.

George Duggan is a British cross country winner and national middle distance runner, indeed he has just set the second fastest 1500m time (3m52s) in his age group.

Ruben Sammut left MGS at the end of year 9 to join Chelsea FC boarding academy so that he can pursue a football career and keep his academic studies going.

Sam Vizard is a talented rugby player who plays for Saracens and Kent.

Emily Royer is a sixth former at the school. She has a golf handicap of 2 and is one of the top 5 golfers in Britain in her age range.

Section 4: MGS & Drama

The school has a strong tradition in Drama, and this all started in 1922 when the school performed their first production, Shakespeare's Twelfth Night. Many productions followed bringing much enjoyment, indeed at times the school used to perform two plays a year (summer and winter). Actors, Artists, Musicians have all been crucial in creating a great Drama heritage at MGS.

Here is a list of plays performed since the very first one in 1922:

Section 6: In Memoriam

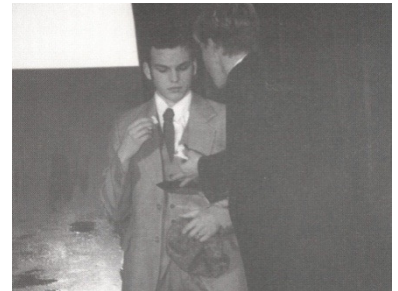

A. Students

John Stern

MGS Student 1991-1996

John Stern attended MGS 1991 – 1996. He was a very talented student who died in tragic circumstances in his first year of university at the age of 18.

"There are not enough words to do John justice" a quote from Ben Elcomb, one of John Stern's best friends. The quote was taken from the 1998 Maidstonian.

Neil Ian Suitters

MGS Student 1996-1998

Neil Ian Suitters, born on 30th August 1985, sadly passed away on 16th August 1998 following a tragic accident while on a family holiday. In an article (in the Maidstonian of 1999) written to pay respect to Neil, Mr Lehec (History teacher and Head of Year) talks about Neil as popular, funny and an excellent sportsman. He also lists Neil's favourite pastimes which were television, computers, discos, bike-riding, tennis and football, but biggest of all- cricket. Neil is described as a fast bowler with a strong determination to win. Neil will be remembered with great fondness by everybody who was acquainted with him.

The Neil Suitters Award was donated by Ian and Sally Suitters and is awarded at the Lower School Speech Day each year, to the boy who gives his absolute best in everything he does.

Ben de Garis

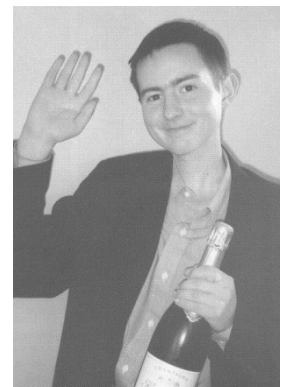

MGS Student 1993-1999

A true inspiration, Ben de Garis sadly passed away in 1999 at the age of 18. He joined the MGS community in 1993 and faced his cancer of the lymph glands with stoicism and humour. During his illness he received chemotherapy and radiotherapy at the Royal Marsden Hospital in London. He passed away a few days before he was due to receive his A-Level results, in which he attained excellent grades in all subjects.

As a 13 year old, he used his artistic talent to create a figure cartoon which would appeal to other young sufferers of Hodgkin's Lymphoma. His concept was Captain Chemo, a cancer busting super hero, who starred in The Adventures of Captain Chemo. Ben was delighted when his idea was developed into a booklet which was distributed by the United Kingdom Children's Cancer Study Group. Ben was unable to attend school at MGS full time, because of his illness, therefore he spent his time designing something that could help other children overcome "an extremely anxious period of their lives".

The Adventures of Captain Chemo cartoons were adapted into a website and an interactive computer game, which involves Captain Chemo and Chemo Command trying to find the answers to questions about cancer. Ben's parents, Paul and Maxine, were delighted with the developments in the game and believe that, "Ben would have enjoyed zapping the cancer cells".

The search for ways to eradicate cancer continues. In the meantime, the memory of Ben de Garis lives on as his creation, Captain Chemo, battles with one of the world's biggest killers.

Nigel Morton

MGS Student 1983-1985

Nigel Morton died on the 2nd July 2009 when his tornado aircraft crashed over Scotland. He came to MGS during the years 1983-1985 and then went on to become a flight Lieutenant of the 43 squadron; he logged over 3000 hours of flying Tornado's.

Ben Babington-Browne

MGS Student 1993-2000

Ben Babington-Browne was a student at Maidstone Grammar School; he was deputy school captain and he left the school in 2000 to join the Army. Ben fought in the Iraq and Afghan wars; he was 27 years old when he died in 2009 in a helicopter crash in Afghanistan. Lt. Col. Andrew Noble, commanding officer of the Royal Engineers, said Ben was "an outstanding officer" with "an extremely bright future".
"It is hard to accept that such a shining light has gone from this world".

These inspirational Maidstonians will never be forgotten by the people in the MGS Community.

B. Staff who died whilst in service at MGS

Alex Stewart

Alex Stewart was a student at MGS who returned to be a P.E. Teacher from 1942 – 1972. He was a very dedicated teacher, and an able Rugby referee. He took up the burden of being the investigator of school 'crimes' – he would always make sure justice was served. However, he would always help the offender – not to escape his punishment – but to be brave enough to face it. Unfortunately, Alex Stewart died unexpectedly in August 1972. There is a memorial plaque by the entrance of the Sports Hall (which is officially called the Stewart Sports Hall).

David Smith

David Mitchell Smith was an English teacher who taught at MGS from 1977 to 1991. He showed passion for his subject and the ability to evoke an enthusiastic response from his pupils. He edited 'The Maidstonian' for many years and regularly succeeded in extracting from his editorial team a publication which was attractive, informative and entertaining. He was also very much involved in MGS Drama and always took a leading role in the Staff pantomime. The shock of his tragic death devastated the school, boys and staff alike.

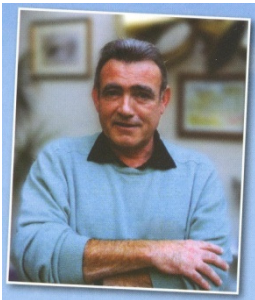

Jan Powney

Janetta Powney first came to the school in 1985 as the accounts clerk. Her work brought her into contact with everybody and she would not hesitate to offer her help to solve problems. In March 1995, Jan was diagnosed as having an aggressive form of cancer so that surgical treatment was not an option and she sadly passed away at her home on 10th September 1995.

Mr Jean-Marie Sanfourche

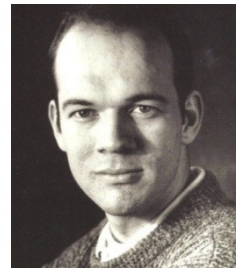

Mr Sanfourche taught at the school from the autumn of 1973, until he died on the 9th October 2008. He always looked for the best in his students and appreciated those who put in maximum effort. He was more than just a teacher; he was a fantastic mentor but most importantly he was a friend and that his door would always be open so that you could talk to him at anytime. Hours after the school had heard of his passing a facebook group had already started so people could pay their respects to him and the word that came up the most was 'legend'. The French Tricolore flew at half-mast over the gatehouse on the day of his funeral.

Stuart Smith

Stuart Smith started work at the school in 2007 as a Supply Teacher and he made such a positive impression that he was soon taken on full time, and he quickly became a very popular teacher and form tutor. His personal love was musical theatre, and he was desperate for Drama to be taught at MGS, and with help from Mrs Burns, he introduced the Year 9 Drama curriculum. Tragically, he developed cancer, and died in September 2010.
